This gallery celebrates the traditions of the Tribal Nations of Utah. Today's Tribal Nations and communities are vibrant and incredibly diverse, and each Tribe has a distinct and unique heritage.

The tradition of carrying infants in a cradleboard has been practiced for generations, and each cradleboard reflects the beliefs and values of the people that use it. Compare the different cradleboards from different Tribal Nations. How are they similar and different? Use the Venn Diagram to compare cradle boards from two different Tribes.

Look at the different patterns. Each pattern has a meaning or tells a story. Draw a pattern that you would put on a cradleboard to represent your family and culture.
